monstration demanding the lower-ing of soda prices.

In Worcesier yesterday the prices of soft and cooling drinks were low-ared by 6 cents in two of the largest establishments along Main street. In other cities the kids have also spoken up to demand that the soda return to pre-war prices. A survey of the local stores does not indicate that the youngsters around here have been able to make any impression as yet on the dispensers of the drinks that cool. None of the local stores seem to have lowered their prices as yet and there is at present no indi-cation of their doing so.

MOBS AT DUBLIN HOUSE, WHERE PEACE CONFERENCE WAS BEING HELD.

Great public interest is being taken in the Irish peace conference in Dublin. Eamon De Valera, rec ognized President of the Irish Republic, is confident of a favorable peace being negotiated between Great Britain and Ireland. Great crowds were assembled outside the Dublin Mansion House, where a preliminary peace conference was held between representatives of Sinn Fein and Southern Minority Unionists. When the delegates entered the House the crowds outside gravely fell to reciting the Rosary in the Gaelic tongue for the success of the peace conference. Many American flags were brought into play.
